205 Tampa General Aeromed Ride-Along Experience

This is an exclusive opportunity for an individual to participate in the Tampa General Aeromed Ride-Along Program. Aeromed transports critically ill and injured patients throughout Florida. You will experience and learn about patient care in the air transport environment to include helicopter operations, safety procedures, medical protocols, regional transport destinations, and appropriate air transport criteria. You will accompany air medical crews on pre-hospital and inter-facility transports to observe patient assessment and management during air transport. This experience is an opportunity to view a larger portion of our local health care delivery system and appreciate the many entities that comprise that system and offer insight that may ultimately improve its overall efficiency. Must be 18 years of age or older. Weight and balance is a consideration on all transports to ensure safe air transport of patients and crew, as such the rider must weigh 250 lbs or less and have an estimated waist size of 44 inches or less to fit in aircraft seatbelt. Rider should be aware that they may not be able to accompany the aircraft and crew on certain transports based upon weight and balance of the aircraft, and that they may need to be left at the scene and ground transported back to base of origin. Rider should be reasonably fit and agile. The ability to swiftly exit the aircraft without assistance is expected. Aeromed reserves the right to request riders provide a physician letter granting medical clearance to participate in ride-along activities. Riders are required to utilize Aeromed provided safety equipment to include personal flotation vests and helmets. Rider is subject to Aeromed and TGH's dress codes concerning appropriate attire, piercings, and tattoos. You will be required to complete a medical history, release, waiver of liability and statement of confidentiality. Expires September 1, 2019.
