NEUROLOGY

The Department of Neurology at Massachusetts General Hospital is looking for people to participate in a remote research study to develop measurement technologies that can help improve clinical trials in Friedreich's Ataxia.

About the study:

This remote study involves one telephone call and some at-home computer-mouse and speech tasks (three times over the course of one week). Total expected participation time would be about 1.5 hours.

The study team will ship all the supplies needed to complete the study to your home address. You will be compensated $25 for participating.

No in-person visits necessary!

Eligibility

To participate, you must meet the following criteria:

1. Have a diagnosis of Friedreich's Ataxia OR be a healthy control
2. Be an English speaker
3. Be at least 2 years old

If you are interested in participating or would like to learn more about the study, please contact Study Coordinator, Faye Yang, at (617)-643-4662 or mghremotefastudy@mgb.org.
